

STRIKE OF OHIO MINERS IS THREATENED

FARMS AND BANKS IN ACCORD

Perfect Sympathy Exists Between These Classes in Iowa

POWER IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Both Dissatisfied, However, Richard Spillane Finds.

(BY RICHARD SPILLANE)

DES MOINES, Ia.—Sept. 12—This city reflects Iowa, the greatest agricultural state of the Union, foremost in value of farm land, in value of farm machinery, in value of livestock on the farms, in percentage of acres of improved land, and, probably, in automobiles per capita. Conservatively the farmer has been hard hit by the great decline in farm product prices but nowhere in the farm belt is the prospect better of early return to fair conditions. The farmer and country bankers agree that despite low prices, the farmer will be able to reduce his indebtedness somewhat out of this year's crop. But the bankers, like the farmers, are dissatisfied. They say Iowa has a greatest machine for farm production in the world but is not getting the real profit out of it and the farmer is the general public, owing the wastes and excessive costs of marketing. There is no nonpartisan league or populist taint to the banker but he declares there would have been no such blind movements there were not gross evils to correct. Bankers and farmers would like to see order system common sense introduced into the distribution process. They don't see why if a California Fruit Exchange can net producer and consumer by system of marketing the citrus deciduous crops of California gain farmers can do likewise in their products. They want to reduce, or, if possible, eliminate the gamble there is in farming and make it a more stable industry. Nowhere are bankers and farmers more in accord and in sympathy than in Iowa. They are sound, solid citizens. Their plans will be considered before being adopted. What they do is likely to have great influence on the farm nationally. Here Des Moines are several great farm publications. An Iowa farm editor is secretary of agriculture. Iowa bankers rank high in influence and intelligence.

30,000 DIE FROM TUBERCULOSIS

Toll Taken in Mississippi Valley Last Year.

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press) — The lowest death rates from tuberculosis ever recorded for central and western states were reported here today at the opening of the ninth annual meeting of the Mississippi Valley Conference of Tuberculosis, representing eleven states. Statistics presented by delegates from these states indicate a very marked decline in the tuberculosis death rate as compared with the 1919 figures. In that year the death rate from tuberculosis was 125.6 for each 100,000 population.

PLAGUE'S TOLL
Out of a population of approximately 35,000,000 people in the Mississippi Valley, there were approximately 30,000 deaths from tuberculosis last year and the number of active cases is estimated at over 200,000. Only a few more than 100 hospitals with an aggregate capacity of about 4,000 are available for these patients, reports made at the meeting.

Also at present the death rate from tuberculosis is higher among men than among women, delegates discussing the statistics submitted declared that there is possibility that the number of women entering various lines of employment may raise the rate for their sex. There was a six per cent increase in tuberculosis mortality among British women during the year it was pointed out.

The decline in the tuberculosis death rate during the last two years will continue for 1921, and may never rise again, in the opinion of experts. "I believe the end is in sight in the fight against the white plague," said Dr. Walter McNab of St. Louis, president of the conference. "We are beginning to get real results from the intensive campaign of education and prevention which has been carried on for the past 10 years."

Others attribute the sharp decline in the death rate of 1919 and 1920 to the influenza epidemic of 1918, which killed many who were predisposed to tuberculosis, and they expressed fear that the rate may climb again in a few years unless there is a sustained campaign of education and prevention and greater hospital facilities made available for those infected.

Emphasis will be placed on education of children in health measures. The problem of caring for ex-servicemen, many of whom are suffering from tuberculosis, will also be a feature of the conference. A liberal estimate puts the cost of these businesses at 15 to 20 per cent. One prominent theatre manager was to have opened this month but will be closed until the transportation trouble is adjusted.

ROOT AGAIN DECLINES PLACE IN WORLD COURT

GENEVA—Elihu Root has definitely declined to be considered for election as judge of the international court of justice. In a cablegram to Dr. Manly O. Hudson, who is here in the capacity of American observer, Mr. Root declares he will be unable to serve on the court because of his age. The refusal of Mr. Root is said to increase the chances of either John Bassett Moore or Professor Roscoe Pound, two other Americans nominated for the court, to be elected. Some delegates to the assembly, notably Casto da Cunha, of Brazil, declared today they favored the election of Mr. Root, despite his cablegram, as an honor. The election occurs Wednesday.

RAILROADS CLAIM LOSS ON COAL

Data Presented at Rate Hearing in Columbus.

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press) — Two examiners of the interstate commerce commission today began hearing the appeal of railroads operating in Ohio, from decisions of state public utilities commission whereby the roads were not permitted to apply the forty per cent increase in freight rates authorized by the interstate commerce commission to coal shipments within the state. Robert E. Quirk and M. G. De Quevedo are the examiners conducting the hearing.

Thru E. F. Thomas, comptroller for the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, the carriers are presenting a large mass of data to show that coal cannot be profitably carried within the state at the old rates. The carriers also contend that the action of the Ohio commission in disallowing the 40 per cent increase has upset the entire freight rate schedule on coal within this territory.

In all other appeals from state decisions similar to the Ohio commission's order, the interstate commerce commission ordered the 40 per cent increase to be allowed on traffic within the state. Fifteen roads are parties to the appeal, the Detroit, Toledo and London and the Zanesville and Western being included. Among exhibits presented by the carriers was one showing the net return on operations for the last seven years and the first six months of 1921, based upon the companies' own book valuation of the properties. These figures showed a return of 6.54 per cent in 1916, which dropped to a deficit in 1920 and for the first half of 1921 a return of .84 per cent. They also presented data showing the percentage of bituminous coal carried by the roads to all freight traffic. In most instances, the percentage was greater for the six months period than for preceding years, indicating, it was said, a greater movement of coal than other products.

DOZEN HUNTED IN DOUBLE MURDER

Two More Arrested in Daugherty And Ausmus Killing.

CHURCH ADMITS THE CRIMES

Gives Different Version, However, of the Circumstances.

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — Authorities investigating the double murder of Bernard J. Daugherty, automobile salesman and Carl Ausmus, his companion, today were attempting to sift the facts from two alleged confessions made by Harvey W. Church yesterday.

In one confession, according to the police, Church admitted committing both murders single handed. In a second and informal confession, the police say, he asserted he had accomplices in the crimes. It was announced today that in investigating the latter's statements, two new arrests have been made, search for a dozen former associates of Church was under way and Church's parents were today to be subjected to questioning.

PRISONER BREAKS DOWN
Church's first and formal confession, according to the police, was made yesterday afternoon after nearly ten hours of ceaseless questioning following his return here from Adams, Wis., where he was captured. He broke down after having been taken over the scene of the crime.

He said that he took Daugherty and Ausmus to his home in the new $5,000 automobile he had bought thru their company, on the pretenses of paying for it there. He lured Daugherty into the basement of his home, he said, waylaid him at the point of a pistol, handcuffed him, choked him with a rope and then struck him over the head with a base ball bat. Ausmus was lured to the basement a few seconds later, and was tied up and beaten until Church believed him dead.

Leaving the bodies in the basement, Church says he then took his mother and neighbors on a long automobile ride, returning in the evening and burying Ausmus' body in the garage. The home-made grave was not large enough to hold Daugherty's body also and Church, according to the police, said he took this body in the new car to the Des Plaines river and threw it from the bridge. The next morning he left in the new car with his mother for their former home at Adams, Wisconsin.

TISSUE OF LIES
This alleged confession, which is said to be a "tissue of lies," by Coroner Peter Hoffman, was followed, according to the police, by a second alleged confession in which Church said he had accomplices.

In this confession, he is said to have admitted cutting Daugherty's throat with an ax.

Investigators today pointed out that Church himself could hardly have handled the body of Daugherty, weighing 220 pounds, when he weighed but 135, that Church in his first confession referred several times to "we" and that there has, as yet, been no explanation of how Ausmus' neck was broken or how Daugherty's head and face were bruised and beaten to a pulp.

BRIDGE DISASTER IS INVESTIGATED

Cause of Fatal Crash at Chester, Pa., Sought.

CHESTER, Pa. — (By Associated Press) — City officials and citizens alike turned their attention today from the death scene at Third-st. and the Chester river, where 24 persons lost their lives Saturday night in the collapse of a bridge, to the investigation of the cause of the disaster. At least two inquiries are actually under way. The board of county commissioners, which is responsible for the bridge, initiated an investigation of its own, while the police are gathering all information available for the city administration.

While Thomas J. Feely, a member of the board of commissioners, admitted the collapse was due to unusual weight being thrown upon a badly rusted and broken supporting arm, he declared the bridge had been inspected and pronounced safe by the county engineer ten months ago. The break in the arm, he said, was completely concealed from view.

On the other hand Police Chief Davenport declared the bridge had been condemned several years ago and that only two of five bolts which were supposed to sustain the arm were capable of withstanding any pressure whatever.

FACES CHARGE OF MURDER

ARBUCKLE HELD IN GIRL'S DEATH

Criminal Brutality Charged Against the Famous Comedian as Result of Movie Actress Dying After Visit to His Apartments—Jury Starts Probe

(By MRS. TRACEY.)
SAN FRANCISCO — (United Press) — "We have a complete case against Roscoe Arbuckle," Detective Captain Mathieson announced today as the grand jury prepared to investigate the charge that the famous movie comedian caused the death of Virginia Rappe, beautiful movie actress.

Arbuckle was held in jail today while the police marshalled the evidence that will be introduced against him when the grand jury begins its probe tonight. The charges against Arbuckle was the causing of the death of a human while engaged in or attempting to engage in the commission of a felony. Under the California law, this is first degree murder.

AFIDAVITS SECURED
Mathieson announced that every detail of what occurred at Arbuckle's "booze party" at a local hotel during which Arbuckle's alleged assault on Miss Rappe was said to have taken place, would be laid before the grand jury. Statements in the form of affidavits have been obtained from every person who was at the party, he said.

"Absolutely all the affidavits of those present dovetail completely," declared Mathieson. "There is no disagreement as to what took place. We have a complete case against Arbuckle, in statements as to what occurred behind the locked doors of his bedroom."

"We will present the strongest evidence to show that gross and criminal brutality by Arbuckle was responsible for Miss Rappe's death." All those who attended the fatal party will be called before the grand jury as witnesses. Arbuckle will also be summoned. Two more women witnesses were being sought by the police today to testify against Arbuckle. They are believed to have been in his hotel suite at least a part of the time during the alleged "wild party."

STARTLED PARIS
Miss Rappe, who was 25, was a native of Chicago, has been prominent on the stage and as a model since 1912. In that year, she announced in Chicago, she was earning $4,000 a year as a model. The following year she and another girl are said to have presented a "nighties tango" on the Luer Baltic, enroute to Europe. In 1915, she startled Paris by appearing on the streets with fur anklets, pink pantaloons, showing below her skirts, and carrying armfuls of fruit instead of flowers.

The famous comedian, who has made millions laugh, merely shook his head dolefully when he was asked to make a statement. He evidently is anxious to defend himself in print, but his chief counsel, Frank Dominguez, has issued absolute orders against him uttering a word.

Arbuckle's noted smile had not flitted across his face for several days now. In his cell, he looked like a different person from the comedian whose screen antics made him famous all over the world. While the prosecution has thrown its cards on the table, the defense maintains its policy of silence, preparing for a vigorous fight to clear Arbuckle.

Arbuckle is ready to spend his last cent to vindicate himself, it is understood, realizing that unless he is absolutely cleared, his "drawing power" may be injured. He has a

4 CITIES SHAKEN BY BLASTS

Thousands Flee As Oil Tanks at Dartmouth, N. S., Explode.

HALIFAX, N. S. — (By Associated Press) — Explosion of five tanks of the Imperial Oil company's plant at Dartmouth, on the east side of Halifax harbor, early today, with rumblings that were felt in this city, caused the evacuation of half the homes in Halifax. Those who had gone thru the explosion of December 1917, when the munition ship Mont Blanc blew up and wrecked a third of Halifax with a loss of 1,200 lives, thought it was another such disaster. Indications were that there had been neither loss of life nor serious injury in today's explosion.

BLAZE IN STILL
It was a little after 3 o'clock that Halifax was shaken by the first explosion. A blaze in the refining stills caused the blast, which was succeeded by a second and a third explosion within a few seconds. Glass was shattered in windows here with each shock. Dartmouth, Woodside and Eastern Passage also felt them in varying degrees. Telephone service was disorganized.

Aroused from sleep, people rushed to windows and saw the sky alight with the flames of burning oil and there was a rush to the streets. The east slopes of Citadel Hill were crowded with people within a short time.

STEAMER GIVES ALARM
There were seven men on the night shift working in the vicinity of the refining stills when the fire started. They fled and all are believed to be safe.

The steamer Victrolite, a British tanker, was lying at the oil docks when the fire started. Blasts from her stern were sounded as an alarm before the first of the explosions. The steamer then pulled out from the docks to midstream.

One man was reported missing and another was slightly injured. The property loss will be heavy, as many buildings were wrecked. In all, five distilling tanks of the Imperial Oil company were destroyed. The fire, which started in one of the refining stills was thought to be under control at daylight.

The steamer Victrolite, lying at the oil docks, was moved safely to midstream.

The cold wave which prevailed in the west Saturday is being pushed back into Canada. The edge of the cold wave may affect the region of the Great Lakes, but to no serious extent. WOMAN TELLS OF ARBUCKLE CASE

Mrs. Maud Delmont Declares Miss Rappe Crushed.

GIRL'S CLOTHING TORN OFF

Says She Heard Terrible Scream In the Room.

NEW YORK — (By United Press) — Henry Lehrman, motion picture director, who was Miss Virginia Rappe's fiancé, said today Mrs. Maud Delmont would take the initiative in assisting the state to investigate the actress' death in San Francisco.

Lehrman said he probably would be unable to go to the Pacific coast. He displayed a telegram from Mrs. Delmont which read in part:

"Will tell the truth if I have to die. Virginia did not die from congestion of the lungs as first reported. An autopsy disclosed she was crushed and injured, proving violence."

Lehrman reported Mrs. Delmont's statement over long distance telephone, as follows:

"After we got to the suite and had a few drinks, Arbuckle jumped up and grabbed Virginia. He carried her into another room and locked the door. I heard her struggling and screaming and pounding on the door."

"They were in the room a quarter of an hour when we heard terrible screams. I then went to call the hotel office and Arbuckle opened the door. I found Virginia's clothing had been torn to shreds and she was unconscious."

Miss Rappe's fiancé declared that if Arbuckle were released, he would settle with him personally. He asserted Arbuckle was a "beast," charging he had boasted of tearing the clothing off another woman. Before getting into the movies, Lehrman said, Arbuckle was a San Francisco bar boy.

"This is what comes of elevating such vulgarisms to high places and making them rich," he said bitterly. "I am glad Virginia died fighting."

ALLEGED THIEF IS HELD IN $500

Albert Rowley, Taken In Indiana, Arraigned Here.

"Make it $500 or $5,000,000; I can't provide it, anyhow and I've got to be in jail," was the command that Albert W. Rowley, 30, gave to Justice Ernest M. Botkin, Monday, when the court was preparing to fix his bond.

Rowley gave himself up to Crown Point, Ind., authorities Friday, saying that he had stolen a horse and buggy in Lima on August 23, last.

Deputy Sheriff Praunfleiter returned Rowley to Lima, Saturday night. Justice Botkin placed the bond at $500 and he was remanded to the county jail.

Rowley asked Justice Botkin if there was any way he might be bound over to the grand jury, without making any plea, or by keeping silent. He explained the laws of several adjoining states to the court and showed himself conversant with the penalty and procedure of courts.

Justice Botkin told him he could waive examination and be bound. He selected this course.

"He has either been around police courts or spent much of his life in connection with the working of courts," Justice Botkin said.

Rowley's hair is gray and he shows the ravages of age. He told Justice Botkin he had traveled extensively in Michigan and Illinois, but considered Chicago his home.

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — The government is going after the famous Bergdoll "pot of gold." Thomas W. Miller, alien proprietor, custodian of the three million dollars of gold, announced today that a complaint had been prepared, demanding of Mrs. Emma G. Lima parochial schools opened Monday with a marked increase in attendance at the three parishes, St. Rose, St. John's and St. Gerard's.

St. Gerard's school opened with a solemn high mass. The Rev. Father Clarke, pastor of St. Gerard's, announced an attendance of about 165.

At St. John's school the Rev. Father Flanagan, pastor, announced an attendance of about 500, with 35 in the High School. Increase in parish is also noted.

Monsignor A. E. Manning, pastor of St. Rose church, announced an increase of school children in that parish. There are 550 in attendance, of which 90 are in the high school.

THREE BRIDGES SOON TO BE READY FOR USE

Municipal work is progressing in a satisfactory manner, according to Mayor P. A. Burkhardt, following a tour of the city Monday.

Three bridges, at Elm, Metcalf and North-st., are practically finished. Street repair and paving work is progressing in good shape.

Rain on Saturday caused a rise in the river above the city and enabled the pumping stations to add many thousands of gallons to the reserve stored in three lakes.

AUTO STOLEN, ABANDONED. A Packard automobile stolen from Baxter Brothers' garage, Sunday night, was found abandoned near Kissing Hollow, according to a report made to police Monday afternoon.

The machine, according to police, was located by Roy Drury, an attendant of Williams & Davis undertaking establishment.

OWNERS PROTEST. Property owners on Oak-st. are threatening to refuse to pay for paving the street unless the city makes good the concrete curb, which they declare, is falling to pieces. A delegation of owners headed by Carl Harshbarger, 719 Oak-st., is slated to file protests before council Monday night.

CHILD IN ARMS OF DEAD PARENT.

Wife an Invalid in Hospital, Frank Stockler Found Dead.

BREAKS DOWN UNDER STRAIN

Misfortunes Heaped Upon West Cairo Family.

With the warm face of his year-and-half old child pressed against his cold cheek, Frank Stockler, 11 West Cairo, was found dead in bed Monday morning. His wife, almost a hopeless invalid, is a patient at City hospital. She will be unable to attend the funeral.

WIFE IN HOSPITAL. Stockler has been under a strain for the past two years, when an explosion wrecked their home and Mrs. Stockler was horribly burned. Since that time she has been subjected to several operations to relieve the drawn condition of the skin. She had been removed to the hospital a few days ago, preparatory to submitting to a skin-grafting operation.

Mrs. Stockler is a sister to Emmitt E. Everitt, Lima attorney.

Stockler visited her at the hospital Saturday. She complained of feeling badly. When his children went to his room to awaken him Monday morning, they found him dead. The child was sleeping curled up in his arms.

Stockler is the father of eight children. The skin-grafting process for Mrs. Stockler will be postponed until after Stockler's funeral, but the wife will be unable to leave the hospital, because of her condition. Her arms had grown fast to the body.

Stockler is a brother to Mrs. Ira Snyder, 1004 W. High-st., and of T. J. Stockler, Ohio Electric motorman, 806 W. North-st. Mrs. H. Stahl, Spencer, is a sister. He survived by three brothers and four sisters. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — The government is going after the famous Bergdoll "pot of gold." Thomas W. Miller, alien proprietor, custodian of the three million dollars of gold, announced today that a complaint had been prepared, demanding of Mrs. Emma G. Bergdoll, mother of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, as attorney in fact for her son, all property in which he held any interest, including gold coin taken from the treasury before the draft evader escaped from the federal authorities and fled to Germany.

It is expected the complaint will be filed today in the federal district court at Philadelphia.

Demand was made on Mrs. Bergdoll last May for delivery of all property belonging to her son or in which he had any interest. Mr. Miller said, but despite repeated extensions of time allowed Mrs. Bergdoll, the property had not been turned over to the government. This, he added, made it necessary to take the action planned.

"It is our intention to insist on the terms of the trading with the enemy act," said Mr. Miller, "and in accordance with our demands made thereunder, we are prepared to go to the full extent of the law in causing her to do so, if it becomes necessary."

ONE TEACHER FOR 64 PUPILS; IRON CLAD SCHOOL IS CONGESTED

County school authorities are baffled over the congested condition of the iron clad school, northwest of Lima on the Cole-st. road, one-half mile from the Pennsylvania railroad crossing and just outside the city limits.

Sixty-four pupils have registered for studies in the eighth grades. Only one teacher is provided, making it physically impossible to care for the number of students under present conditions.

Most of the students are from families who reside just outside the city limits.

The county school board will meet in special session Wednesday night in an effort to find means of relieving the congestion.

SISSONS DEMAND TRIAL TO JURY

Charged With Removing Parts From Damaged Automobile.

When arraigned in police court Monday on a charge of having stolen parts of a Ford automobile, owned by Gar Riser, Alger, Don Sisson, 21 and his wife, Olive, 22, 304 N. Jackson-st., plead not guilty and demanded a jury trial. Judge Jackson set the hearing for Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Sisson and wife, police say, were arrested Saturday night by Sheriff Baxter, Deputy Sheriff Fraunfleiter and Detectives Walker and Watkins. Immediately following the theft, which occurred on the Marion-rd.

Sisson was released under a $200 bond Monday, while his wife was released upon her own recognizance. The jury was drawn immediately following the arraignment, and will be chosen from the following named:

C. E. Frisby, 907 N. Broadway; C. E. Bales, 1063 Reese-ave; O. G. O'Dell, 553 Bellefontaine-ave; C. F. Boles, 805 S. Metcalf; A. J. Boles, 805 S. Metcalf; A. J. Bradley, 1608 W. High-st.; Thomas E. Baumgardner, 421 W. Kibby-st.; Clayton Doner, 966 W. High-st.; H. A. DeLong, 818 W. Kibby-st.; D. R. Carpenter, 812 Atlantic-ave; Samuel Blatter, 739 Erie-ave; C. C. Bauer, 533 W. North-st.; S. Fisher, 813 Elm-st.; C. A. Bybee, 619 N. Collett; and J. C. Bowles, 812 E. Elm-st.

The affidavits against Sisson and his wife were signed by Gar Riser, who owned the car that the parts are alleged to have been stolen from. According to Riser, he was returning home from Lima Saturday morning when the steering gear of his car broke. He left the car by the side of the road, while he went home. Later, he says, he was notified by Sheriff Baxter that parts of the car had been stolen and recovered and that the car was in a local garage. Riser came to Lima Monday morning.

The stolen parts include, Riser says, a wheel, coil, tire tube, bulb, and lenses. All parts have been recovered, the sheriff says.

PEDDLER FAILED TO GET LICENSE; FINED

Samuel Grauer, of New York, rain coat salesman, believed he could not get a license to sell coats until 10 o'clock Monday morning. While awaiting the appointed hour, Samuel endeavored to sell a rain coat to an auto mechanic, police say. A motorcop escorted the salesman to city prison where Grauer was charged with peddling without license.

Arraigned before Judge Jackson in police court shortly afterwards, Grauer pleaded guilty and paid a $5 fine. Immediately upon his release, Grauer took out license permitting him to sell coats. The license cost him $10.

FALL INFUX AT COUNTY INFIRMARY HAS SET IN

Industrial depression, causing men to be without jobs, is leaving its impression at the Allen-co infirmary.

"We are filling up fast," said S. S. Siger, superintendent of infirmary, said Monday. "Within the past week more than half a dozen have joined the number which annually spend their time at the infirmary."

However, this is the time of year when men who are away for the summer, return. Superintendent Siger anticipates a large influx and a big family the whole year and to industrial conditions, he says.

FIRST PHOTOS FROM BIG 'DEATH BELT' OF RUSSIA BROUGHT OUT BY PLANE

PRINTED here are the first photographs to reach America from the vast "death belt" of famine-stricken Russia. The vanguard of the Hoover relief administration is now entering this region with American aid. The pictures were brought out of the famine belt in a fast airplane by Major Blake, a British aviator. They were rushed across to New York by special N. E. A. courier on the liner Aquitania.

THE "DEATH BELT" CLOSE-UP—This picture just received from the "death belt" of Russia, gives a glimpse of conditions throughout the vast famine-stricken area. The mother, fleeing with her starving baby from the barren hunger belt, stops to rest along the road, placing the wasted little body in the shadow of the cart, out of the direct rays of the sun.

THE GREAT RUSSIAN TREK—Thousands of starving Russian peasants they take all the possessions they can manage. This picture was taken, in hands like this, are fleeing the famine belt, hoping to reach more fortunate regions where there is food, before death overtakes them. In special courier.

A ROADSIDE "MEAL"—A group of famine refugees stopping, in their flight from the Russian "death belt," for a "meal" of soup made from roots, bark and dry grass.

EXHAUSTION—Weak and sick after trudging for weeks to escape the horrors of the Russian famine district, this girl falls exhausted when she reaches the railroad line.

DEATHS ESTIMATED AT 100

Forty-Seven Bodies Recovered—Relief Funds Raised.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — (By Associated Press) — Relief funds totaling $17,478 had been subscribed today by citizens of San Antonio to aid a goal of $25,000 for relieving the distress of those who lost possessions in the torrent of Saturday morning which swept over the lower section of the city.

Property damage was fixed at not more than $8,000,000 in a statement by C. B. Vandell, general manager of the Chamber of Commerce, while the death list was still uncertain, some estimates running as high as 100 deaths, including the 17 bodies recovered.

Train service in and out of the city was approaching normal today, numerous small washouts on various lines having been repaired.

In the same cathedral, San Fernando, which has been used for 100 years in saving mass for Mexicans killed by floods, a solemn high mass will be held next Monday for those drowned.

Four refugee camps were eating the refugees today under the direction of the Red Cross. Mr. Vandell's statement said that "it appears as will be able to handle the relief situation satisfactorily without outside help."

One of the unique places of the city is the famous Buckhorn saloon, the collection of horns of Texas ranch cattle, was badly damaged by the flood. The city zoo lost several of its animals but the protection of a natural dike saved the eastern part of that park from inundation. The municipal golf course near Breckenridge Park was considerably damaged.

AMERICANS TAKE FRENCH RESORT

Outnumber All Foreign Nationalities at Deauville.

COCKTAIL AND JAZZ APLENTY

Pay Thousand Francs A Day For Small Rooms.

DEAUVILLE, France — (By Associated Press) — Americans in Deauville this year outnumber all other foreign nationalities represented and have given to this famous French seaside resort a distinctly American atmosphere. Many of the best known jazz bands of the continent have been concentrated here for the season and the cocktail has competed with afternoon tea at most of the fashionable cafes.

Despite the "American invasion," Deauville retains its reputation as the smartest international gathering place on the continent. English visitors are second in attendance and every other nation of consequence has its tourist delegation here.

CASINO THE MAGNATE

"The Casino, where one may lose or win a fortune on the roll of a ball or the flash of a card, is the magnet for all. Every night and well towards the breakfast time of the average American, visitors crowd the tables. Most of them play for reasonable stakes but a few plungers have developed. English-speaking attendants have been placed at most of the tables to "encourage" Americans to try their luck.

While Deauville boasts of its international atmosphere, it is not proud of the large number of "international characters" who gather each season for purposes of plunder. To handle this light-fingered gentry, the Paris police department has sent some of its best detectives and policemen to assist the local force. The result has been that fewer pieces of jewelry have disappeared from hotel rooms than in previous years.

EXCESSIVE PRICES

All except the wealthiest of French people have contented themselves with one day visits to Deauville this year. The reason is the excessive prices charged by hotels and restaurants.

One thousand francs "is only a 'meal ticket' at Deauville. This is a popular expression among those who have been to Deauville, and there seems to be more truth than fiction in it. There are few rooms at less than 150 francs a day and suites of two small rooms cost anywhere from 500 to 1,000 francs.

"But the Americans are rich and do not mind, and the others — well, they can go to other resorts," say Deauville proprietors, and judging from the number of Americans there the proprietors seem to be right.

Mercer-co Woman Beats Child—Girl Injured in Fall.

CELINA — (Special) — Mrs. Onie Martz, Blackrock-tp, near this city was fined $18 in court here, on a charge of cruelly whipping her five-year-old granddaughter, Lena Martz. Dr. Langel testified that the corporal punishment administered by the woman was of such a nature that bits of the child's skin had been torn from the back and legs and that her face was bruised and bleeding. The child's parents are separated.

GAS RATE FIGHT AT DAYTON IS CHECKED

DAYTON — The Dayton gas rate fight has been checked if not stopped altogether, a court decision upholding the right of the city commission to negotiate a new and advanced rate for the gas company. The Dayton Gas Payers' League sought to have the ordinance declared void on the grounds that the new schedule was illegal.

The old rate was 34 1-2 cents per thousand. The new sliding scale starts at 60 cents a thousand feet and ranges up to $1 for 20,000 feet or more.

POULTRY CULLING VALUE SHOWN

428 Cull Hens Lay Average of Only 27 Eggs a Day.

Of 7,000 hens handled by C. L. Northrup, of Yellow Springs, poultry expert and L. E. Van Natta, county farm agent, 30 per cent have been found to be culis.

During last week 1,749 hens were handled, of which 586, or 34 per cent, were culis.

Detailed reports from 10 flocks have been compiled and show that 428 cull hens have laid an average of 27 eggs per day.

Despite the fact that farmers are busy, large crowds are attending the demonstrations and learning how to cull their own flock. The demonstrations will end Wednesday with a gathering at the farm of John A. Huber, near Beavercreek.

Monday demonstrations were being held at the farms of George Beam and G. E. Early, Bath-to-Tuesday at the farms of Sherman Ross, West Cairo, and Peter Snider, Columbus Grove and Wednesday at the farms of W. H. Ebersole, Columbus Grove and the final demonstration at Huber's place.

ANOTHER FLOOD DISASTER

SCORES and perhaps hundreds of human lives and millions of dollars of property is the toll of floods in San Antonio and environs, in Texas, when excessive rains during the latter part of last week inundated an area two miles in length and a half mile or more wide in the heart of the pretty southwest city, historic as the location of the Alamo.

Flood waters of three rivers, under stimulus of unprecedented rainfall, brought to San Antonio and adjacent territory the same scenes of havoc and desolation that were visited on the Miami Valley in Ohio in the Spring of 1913 and to Pueblo, Colorado and other points in that state in the very recent past.

The story from San Antonio is similar to that which came from Dayton and other Ohio cities and later from Pueblo. The heart of a nation throbs in sympathy with the stricken people. Hands are reaching down into open purses in producing a shower of money to buy necessities for relief work.

The San Antonio disaster is but one more proof of the fact that man's efforts to stay the fury of the elements are puny and ineffectual. The people of the Texas city felt as secure as did those in Dayton and Pueblo, never dreaming that storms of sufficient magnitude could occur to cover parts of the city under 15 feet of water.

HAY FEVER TIME

EVERY time you hear another sneeze it doesn't mean that the sneezer is a victim of hay fever. It may be only a summer cold and some persons have trained themselves to sneeze at least once or twice a day. It's good lung exercise and much to be desired, when it isn't due to a bad cold or the more aggravating hay fever.

Victims of the malady are deserving of the sympathy of their more fortunate fellows, but sympathy doesn't help. Where there are no weeds, which shed their pollen about this time of the year, one scarcely ever hears of a case of hay fever. The fine particles of dust irritate the membrane of the nose and sneezing is the result.

In Allen-co there are many cases of hay fever because there are lots of weeds. The sufferers find no relief until cold weather sets in, unless they depart for the far north, where the weeds have had their growth and shed their pollen and where the air is clearer. Rag weeds are the most prolific source of hay fever agitation. The sneezing of the victim at times becomes intense, the eyes water and the nose grows red.

If the weeds were cut in every community as they should be, there would be few cases of this annoying annual malady.

MORE POLICE WANTED

SEEING the development of added crime conditions in Lima, due to economic and unemployment conditions, the head of the police department of this city is asking for an increase in the number of men, so that the streets may be more closely patrolled by officers, day and night. Ten men are asked for, to be added to the present force of 32.

Whenever there is sought a widening of municipal effort in any department, the inevitable cry is always that there is no money, particularly when it is desired to strengthen protective forces, but there never appears to be a shortage of funds when somebody conceives the idea of appointing an expert for this or that purpose.

The request for more policemen is one that should be given consideration at least. The head of the police department has a right to be heard by the head of the city government and the proper committee of council.

A REPREHENSIBLE PRACTICE

AUTOMOBILE accidents at their best are deplorable incidents, but when careless drivers, after running down pedestrians, put on their power and speed away, in daylight or darkness, before their identity can be established, they demonstrate that they are about the smallest specimens of humanity that have been endowed with life.

Such persons, if ferreted out, should be forever barred from again driving a vehicle of any kind. It is a reprehensible thing for a motorist to run down another, a pedestrian, and refuse or neglect to stop and ascertain the extent of the injury inflicted, or offer every assistance in remedying, so far as possible, the results of the accident.

Accidents are avoidable; they are due to somebody's carelessness. But accidents will happen and those who are responsible should not show the yellow streak and run away.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

By PHYLIS PHILLIPS

CHERRY WILL FIGHT

Cherry told Miss Laura everything that lay heavy on her heart. That wise lady sat quietly listening, but saying nothing, until the girl had finished her story. Then she kissed her again, and holding her hands tightly in her own, assured her over and over again that it was all exaggerated. To be sure, Ned had known Arline a year or so earlier, but that was no heinous crime. Most young men had a sweet heart or two before they settled down. Cherry, herself, had undoubtedly had heaps of beaux in Chicago.

At this Cherry nodded her head hard. Of course she had, but fortunately for her and for Ned these past incidents had been left far behind when they left for Wellsburg. Ned's past had pursued him. She was that type of girl, Arline. She had been so spoiled all her life that she simply couldn't believe that in such a tremendous issue as this she would have to count herself defeated.

"It's unfortunate that she ever met Ned, dearie, that much I will say, for a girl like that will go to most any lengths to get what she sets her heart on. All scruples are abandoned. And even if it means the wrecking of a happy home she will not be swayed from her purpose. What we have to do now is find out just the very best thing to counteract Miss Bates' little game. You are clever enough, Cherry, to fix things so that you will be queen of your husband's heart as well as of your home. Remember always that Arline is unscrupulous."

At these words Cherry clinched her fist tightly. She, herself, knew too well the truth of Miss Bates' every word. She had a dangerous rival, one who would stop at nothing. The question was how to settle things once and forever.

"Do you know, Miss Laura, that I was cold to Ned when he left this evening? We've been that way sorrow, years and years ago. That's why I can afford to tell you the truth," said Miss Laura earnestly.

"You see, I can't humble myself for Ned, now, tho," continued Cherry, disconsolately, as she wiped her eyes. "I have really been guilty of nothing, and it's all Ned's fault for jumping to conclusions as he did instead of asking me for the facts in the case about his seeing Arthur kissing me. He has placed me in a difficult position. Besides, how can he throw stones when he has been philandering and when he receives notes like this from a girl he once cared for? No, it is I, Miss Laura, who has right on my side." (To be continued.)

HEALTH HINTS

PORES HEREBY ABOLISHED

The pores of the skin are like auto-intoxication—a fine, hypothetical foundation upon which to set up and launch a lot of plausible remedies—plausible to credulous folk. The skin has a great many minute openings in it, to be sure, from which protrude the shafts of the fine hairs that cover the skin and three glands, empty the sebaceous or oil glands, whose secretion serves to keep the skin soft, pliable, pink, young and warm; and sudoriferous or sweat glands, whose secretion serves to regulate the temperature of the body, but practically not at all to carry off any poisons.

A pore is something more than an opening in the skin. It is an inlet, or means of absorption. The skin of man has no such equipment. Man does not breathe one pit thru his skin. The minute openings just mentioned, so commonly mistaken for "pores," do not absorb anything from the outside world, nor do they "open" and "close" with warmth and cold, as popular imagination has it. In fact, the little openings called "pores" are no more important physiologically or pathologically than is the hole in which a post stands or the hole in which a nail is set in the wood.

It seems deplorable to add that this leads straight to the inevitable conclusion that things purporting to feed or nourish the skin thru the pores purport to accomplish the impossible. Thus, things purporting to improve complexion by giving something to the skin thru the pores would have same effect if applied to the side of a house.

It required several years of study for me to learn that when a young woman complains of "enlarged pores" she means she has an excessive secretion of sebum or oil (doctors call this seborrhea) or more or less plugging of the little openings of the sebaceous ducts with hardened sebum (white heads or comedones) or with sebum mixed with carbon and other dark pigments (black heads.) For these troubles the best application I know is a mixture of about equal parts of sublimed sulphur, alcohol, compound tincture of lavender, glycerine and camphor water, which is to be shaken and dabbed on the face and allowed to dry on over night. (Bey run may be used in place of the alcohol in the formula, if alcohol is not available.)

A NERVOUS SPEAKER

The other night I saw A street corner speaker And he was making a speech From a taxicab. He was standing On the back seat of the cab But he appeared to be nervous. And he looked at his watch Every two minutes, and The driver of the car, Who sat smoking a cigaret, Also looked at his watch Every three minutes. Then looked at the speaker, Then turned his attention Again to his cigaret. Then they would both look At their watches again, And the speaker would go on With his speech, but I noticed That every time the driver Looked at his watch the speaker Seemed to grow more nervous. Finally he quit cold and told The driver to start his engine And drive him out of there. I believe it would be A good thing to have All speeches made From taxicabs where the Charge is so much and The driver keeps tab. No man speaks more than Eight minutes under such Conditions.

"I've broke in three men in my time, but my last husband was the only man I ever known that would use a butterknife without being conched," declared Mrs. Flo Nugent, 64, Mrs. Elna Meers has three children—two sons nicely situated, and a daughter somewhere. (Copyright, 1921.)

HOW TO LIVE FOREVER

Recently we asked our pet scientist to dope out the system of attaining long life, for the benefit of our readers. He has worked on the case faithfully and presents the following rules:

1. Be careful and do not drink water from poisoned wells. If you must drink water drink city water or bottled spring water.
2. Contract no disease. This is important and should be followed by every one, young or old. If no one contracted any disease the death rate would be much lower.
3. Never stand in front of a rapidly moving railroad train or automobile.
4. Marry early and if necessary often. Altho a married person (of either sex) may in reality not live longer than a single person, it seems longer.
5. Do not eat oysters without removing the shells. Next to doughnuts, oyster shells are the hardest food to digest.
6. Do not call a man a liar anywhere west of the Mississippi or south of the Mason and Dixon line. It is much sadder in the east.
7. Do not smoke a cigaret in a celluloid collar factory.
8. Never be an innocent bystander. That is the most dangerous occupation in the world.
9. Do not go into Wall-st and yell, "Hurrah for Leon Trotsky!"
10. Mind your own business, don't interfere in family quarrels, don't eat tinned meats without removing the tins, and if you would reach a ripe old age, don't die."

JUST FOLKS—BY EDGAR A. GUEST

The roads of friendly faces, They're the ones for me, The lanes of kindly places, With the elm and maple tree, There's many a mighty highway For the feet of men to roam, But the one I want for my home Is the road that leads me home.

There are roads that wind o'er mountains And roads that find the sea, Some lead to sunlit fountains And some to majesty; But tho it isn't your way, Oh, Mrs. Elna Meers, has three children—two sons nicely situated, and a daughter somewhere. (Copyright, 1921.)

ROADS

The road where men are neighbors Not people in a throng, The road that ends my labors And ends them with a song: The road of friendly meeting When the sun is in the West With a welcome and a meeting Is the road that I like best.

The roads of friendly faces Are flung across the world, And in all kindly places The flags of strife are furled, And the road of children's laughter When the day has closed its care Shall loom in life's hereafter As the world's best thoroughfare.

COAT DRESS IS NEW FALL MODE

The coat dress is the season's new mode and there are many variations of it to be had in tricot and Poret will. It is a style which is becoming to many figures and it is a style which may be made distinctive by the mere change of line here, or a sleeve there or the original use of trimming features. This smart frock was designed for the slight figure and is charming for an afternoon costume.

Busy-Body Tries to Turn Girl Against Her Chum.

"Disappointed" Is Advised to Disbelieve Stories.

I AM coming to you for advice, as I know you can help me. I have had the same girl chum for more than two years and I think everything of her. Not long ago I met another girl who is always telling me unpleasant things about my chum and is trying to convince me that she is not true to me. But talk about me and I tell my chum what I have this second girl or not.

YOU have known your chum intimately for two years, and this second girl might be trying to break up the friendship, which if once broken, can never again be as close. Don't let others influence you in private matters, and unless you have positive reason to believe your chum is treating you unfairly, pay no attention to what the other girl tells you.

Dear Miss Smart: Will you advise me how to remove the shine from a blue serge skirt?

A plain serge may be washed in warm water, with ivory soap and powdered borax and then pressed on the wrong side. You might try sponging the skirt with water, to which a little vinegar is added.

Dear Miss Smart: Will you please tell me how to can sweet red peppers?

Wash peppers and cut a slice from the stem end of each. Remove seeds and cut the peppers in thin strips, cover with boiling water and let stand several minutes. Drain and plunge into ice water. Let stand 10 minutes, drain and pack tightly into sterilized pint glass jars. Fill jars with one quart vinegar and two cups sugar which have boiled together 15 minutes.

Dear Miss Smart: Is it correct to offer suggestions a second helping of dessert?

If the hostess wishes to offer a second helping at an informal dinner, it is correct for her to do so.

Dear Miss Smart: I am a young married woman, but have no children. My mother lives with me, but is continually complaining because my husband and I like to entertain our friends at informal dinners and parties. We do not spend much money on these affairs, but she is nevertheless saying we are extravagant. What shall I do?

Talk to your mother kindly, and explain how you and your husband chum and is trying to convince me that she is not true to me. But talk about me and I tell my chum what I have this second girl or not.

DISAPPOINTED.

enjoy these little affairs. Perhaps if she is not so understanding that they are not expensive and that it is your husband's money you are spending, she will be more reasonable in the matter. Perhaps ill health causes her to be so irritable. Do not permit her objections to make you unhappy.

Littleton Offered Bout By Rickard

NEW ORLEANS, La. — Happy Littleton, southern middleweight champion, has received an offer from Tex Rickard to meet Johnny Howard in a bout at Madison Square Garden on October 7, according to Littleton's manager. The telegram making the offer said that Downey, Wilson or O'Dowd would not talk terms and should Littleton make a good showing in the east, Rickard would force a championship fight with the southern champion. Littleton meets Mike Gibbons here on October 31.

McTigue's In Line

Mike McTigue's knockout victory over George Robinson in New York recently places him in line for a match for the middleweight title. Robinson is a Boston negro of some ability. He fought Champion Wilson twice and each time scored knockdowns over the title holder. McTigue was a member of Tom O'Rourke's stable until recently. O'Rourke always thought he had a possible champion in McTigue, but he could not induce any of the top notches to take him on, so that the Irishman got no real chance to prove his worth.

BOSTON — George Peabody Wetmore, former Republican United States senator for Rhode Island and for two terms governor of that state, died of heart disease at a hotel here.

WAPAK REGISTERS EASY VICTORY OVER LOCALS

Independents Let Down Heels Are Shown By Gothamites

With One Hit By Tewell

By FRANKLIN SLOAN

Inability on the part of the Independents to connect with the slants of Tex Tewell, Wapak flinger, resulted in the locals emerging from Sunday's game here on the small end of a 6 to 1 score.

This person Tewell had his benders working in fine order and would have entered baseball's hall of fame had it not been for Red Murphy's three-ply swat in the fifth inning. The Lima boys didn't cover the territory they usually do and many of the Wapak hits would have been outs had the Independents been fielding true to form.

Neither team made a score in the first session. In the second inning the visitors aided by a base on ball, an out, a stolen base and a single pushed across a brace of runners. They held Lima in its turn to bat and then ran in 3 more tallies in the third frame. Houtz, first man up, on Wildermuth's single. Schirm got to first on Seward's error and counted when O'Connell played football with a fly.

In the next frame Wapak shoved another tally by means of a double and two singles. This ended the scoring for Wapak.

MURPHY DID IT

Oh, yes, we mustn't forget to let you in on the secret of Lima's lone score. In the fifth frame, a one Mr. Murphy, sun gardener, slapped the ball against rightfield fence. After Murphy had reached third place base he carried on toward the plate.

As a result Mr. Murphy was in a pickle between third and Home, Sweet Home. Wildermuth, the opposing third sacker, while trying to run him down uncorked a wild heave that hit the base runner and Murphy sauntered home.

One of the sensations of the day was the brilliant fielding of Schlein. Wapak shortfielder. Many Lima players sent hot ones down between second base and shortstop that looked good for hits only to have Schlein rush in and make a brilliant catch.

THEY FIRE 'EM BACK TO TONEY

Fred Toney, who probably has been hit with more matted balls than any other pitcher in the league so far this season—possibly because he affords such an excellent target—took a hand at pitching to batters in practice before a recent game, but he didn't last long. The second man to face him was Irish Meusel. Fred threw a ball at Irish, who smashed it back at him, the pellet striking Fred in the left leg and almost bowling him over. Fred limped about for a moment, went back in the box, wound up and delivered another ball. Irish hit this one back at him like a shot, and Fred just got his hands up in time to save himself from decapitation. In mock alarm Meusel darted back of the screen, but he had nothing to fear, for Fred, reasoning that discretion was the better part of valor, turned about and jogged off the field.

Hey, Boy, Page Friend Jim Dugan

Bill Rodgers of the Sacramento teams says one of the best little bones in running bases he ever saw pulled was by Billy Southworth in a game in the Coast league some years ago. Southworth was on second and Rodgers was on third. The batter hit a slow roller down the third base line and looked to have a good chance to beat it to the bag. Rodgers held his base. The third baseman made a hurried throw to first and it was wild, so Rodgers gathered himself for a rush home. As he did so there was a swirl and a rush behind him, he was toppled over and got up in time to see Billy Southworth making a desperate slide into the plate, beating the ball there by inches. Southworth had started with the crack of it, but he was out for passing a runner on the path.

CAMP PERRY. —The Herriek cup match of the National Rifle Association opened today on the eight and nine hundred yard ranges. This event was followed by the camp instructors' match on the twenty-five yard pistol and 200 yard slow fire rifle ranges. Despite a heavy rain which fell here yesterday everything was in excellent condition for the work on the firing line.

them several games, although their pitchers performed well.

CHICAGO TEAMS HIT.

Each of the Chicago teams showed unusual hitting strength, but their pitchers were weak and opposing batters piled up bigger scores. The White Sox series with Detroit was marked by unusually heavy scoring, and the Yankee batters boosted their batting averages considerably at the expense of Athletic pitchers.

The week's record in each league of games played and lost, with runs, hits, errors, men left on bases and opponents' runs, including games of Saturday, September 10, is as follows:

BRAVES CROWD CARDS.

Crowding the Cardinals for third place in the National were the Braves who went on a batting rampage during the week. Brooklyn, with the majority of games against the Giants this season to their credit, was unable to solve the New York pitchers in the series just ended. They now appear doomed to a berth in the second division.

Pittsburg has fallen into the Giants' old habit of 500 baseball and the inability of the Pirate clan to connect with opposition hurlers lost.

Reds Down Pirates

CINCINNATI. — (Special) — Rube Marquard displayed brilliant form here Sunday afternoon, and the Reds tumbled the Pirates out of first place by handing them a 4 to 1 wallop while the Giants were downing poor, inoffensive Brooklyn.

The Pirates were only saved from a shutout by Maranville's triple and a sacrifice fly in the ninth session.

Other than that, Marquard had them at his mercy. The Reds played more like a pennant winning team than did the Pirates.

INDIANS WIN IT

ST. LOUIS. — (Special) — Combining hits with a couple of errors pulled by the Browns, the Indians shot seven tallies across the platter in the third inning and easily copied Sunday's game here by an 8 to 4 score.

Manager Tris Speaker twisted his knee when he tripped over first cushion. The Indians' chief retired, and it was for a while thought the injury was serious. However, after the game it was announced that the knee was only strained, and the injury will not keep the boss out of the game a great length of time.

While almost every match was a clash of stars, the two outstanding features of the card were

STORY OF HENRY VIII AND ANNE BOLEYN—MOVIE PLAY REVIEW

(By ELMER WAGNER)

ERNEST Lubitsch, the great European producer, has vividly portrayed the life of Henry VIII and Anne Boleyn in his picture, "Deception." It is great in its simplicity, great in scenic effects, great in its acting. Its plot is real. There is not an act or gesture that is not vital to the play. Mass and detail are blended with marvelous effect.

The story told is that of King Henry VIII and the famous character story, Anne Boleyn. With dramatic and relentless hand the director presents a smashing study of a thick-lipped, muddy-eyed, beef gormandizing monarch who sacrificed wife and religion on the altar of a beautiful and gracious woman who dared not say him nay, and whose head was later the price of forced acquiescence. You will not soon get Emil Jannings's King Henry.

Henry Porten's Anne Boleyn is likewise a memorable performance. You have a woman gently born and reared, who combines charm, vivacity and an appealing wistfulness with an austere dignity. With what subtle sadness she accepts the inevitable—she must marry him and give him an heir. And afterwards—how game!

"Are you happy?" inquires the King on their wedding day.

"Am I not Queen of England?" she replies quietly.

It falls to the lot of this unhappy woman to bear the king's daughter, even before this, his roving eyes had lighted on the wanton Lady Jane.

—Anne's lady-in-waiting—and found her good to look upon.

The act falls.

"Deception" is a remarkable picture from every point of view. So real, so absorbing, that it holds your interest to the last flicker. Certainly it is a film you will not soon forget.

BEFORE we proceed at all in going into the details of this picture "Not Guilty," we want to have you ever seen Richard Dix? (Well, this department has and we think he is just mild. Let's both of us keep our eyes on him after this.) "Not Guilty" which is, an adaptation of a Harold McHugh play, "Parrott & Co." Richard Dix is the star. He is a twin brother of whom takes upon himself the burden of the others crime. By more than skillful characterization this young actor succeeds in making really two people out of one. Brother Arthur is not a bit like brother Paul.

STORY that is exceedingly light in value and breezy in presentation is "Don't Call Me a Girl" which is, if you remember an adaptation of "Jerry" the well known Billie Burke stage success has played several years ago.

Billie Minter, who plays the part of Jerry, has a good time in this picture. It almost seems as if the picture were written especially for her. She is in real life, being called a girl, the course there isn't so much excitement when an unknown commits such an offense.

—story? The heroine's name is Jerry, who refuses to wear short skirts and wear her lovely hair in just so her youthful widow may ensnare with greater another man.

—Jerry meets Monty Wade when she off with his car to escape doing distasteful things. Her mother is upon her doing. Of course she falls in love with Monty, and he, but she learns that, Joan is Jane of her youthful aunt, Joan is a mixup galore, perpetrated

POLA NEGRI HAS METEORIC RISE AS A STAR IN THE MOVIE WORLD

The humble beginnings of many of our American actors who have since achieved distinction on the screen are shaded by the start and meteoric rise of Pola Negri, the brilliant European actress, whose latest film vehicle, "One Arabian Night," is soon to be released in the United States by Associated First National Pictures, Inc.

But a few years ago, Pola Negri was a little shop girl earning fifteen marks a week. At that time fifteen marks amounted to about $4 in United States money. Now it would bring about forty cents in American currency. Pola was employed at Wertheim's one of the largest department stores in the world, located on Leipziger Platz, in Paris.

She was talented; could dance and play the violin to perfection. She learned these things in her native city of Poznan in Poland. Friends urged her to use the talents which were being wasted in the great department store. She obtained an engagement to go on a concert tour and quit Wertheim's. Her tour was a success. Then she had an opportunity to join the Imperial Russian Ballet and was for some time a dancer in that famous group of theatrical artists, appearing before the late Czar Nicholas.

Pola returned to Berlin and then the war broke out. She could not arrange any more concert engagements and so took her old job back at Wertheim's. The ambitious little shop girl was not contented with her lot. She made the rounds of the motion picture studios, hoping to land a job. She got one as a secretary and then East Lubitsch, who is called the Griffith of Europe, discovered her.

Today the former little shop girl is the talk of two continents.

MUTT AND JEFF—JEFF LEARNED SOMETHING TO HIS DISADVANTAGE—

SHORT SHAVINGS

George Hibner, Toledo traveling salesman, representing a match factory and who was formerly a grocer and chief of the fire department in Fremont, came into Lima yesterday from the south and was convinced that he had experienced a gas attack when crossing Ottawa river.

"We have a glue factory down in our end of the state," Hibner said, "always under quarantine and forced to observe the ten mile limit, but when it comes to affording a doubtful perfume, it has nothing on your river."

"I've been driving into Lima about once a week for a year or two," George Ardle, Putnam-co farmer, said yesterday to Paulman Houtz, "and I'll be hanged if I can get the lay of the traffic laws here relative to parking," as he stopped in his car in Main-st.

"I want to get right before parking," Ardle said. "Tell me where to hang 'er up and explain the angle. I don't want to pay a fine for being ignorant of the law."

Clarence Zaenglein, auditor for the Western Ohio, believes in the enhancement of natural scenic beauty.

"I've often wondered," Zaenglein said, "why the park officials don't have those scrubby trees that skirt the west side of the athletic field at Laurel park, trimmed, so that passengers on our cars will have the opportunity of seeing at least a part of the park in passing. I take it that parks are provided to be seen as well as to be visited."

A couple of young fellows, last year graduated from Columbia, were talking of the value of a university education, when one of them asked:

"Do you think that Greek has any value in modern education?" "Certain," said the other youth. "The Greek alphabet enables a man to know what frat he belongs to."

A New York lawyer maintains an admirable stockfarm in Jersey. One day some poor children were permitted to go over this farm and when their inspection was completed each of them was given a glass of milk.

The milk came from a $5,000 cow. "How do you like it, boys?" asked an attendant when the youngsters had drained their glasses. "Fine! Fine!" said one youngster with a grin of approval. Then, after a pause, he added:

"Gee! I wish our milkman kept a cow."

"That's a fine baby of yours, Bill," said the boss to his chauffeur.

"Yes, Mr. Wilkins," said the chauffeur. "My wife and I are pretty proud of him. He's the latest model, all right—a self-starter, with an automatic horn that would wake the dead."

Veteran of Civil War Still Hale and Hearty

GEORGE D. SHAW, Springfield, Mass.

"To say that I feel twenty-five years younger, twenty-five years stronger expresses what Tanlac has done for me better than any other way I can put it," said George D. Shaw, veteran of the Civil War, who now lives at 211 Walnut street, Springfield, Mass.

"I am now seventy-eight years old and I don't hesitate to say I have never known a medicine to equal Tanlac. For fifteen years I was subject to attacks of indigestion that were so bad at times I would have to lay up for a week or two. For a long time I lived on crackers and milk alone as nothing else agreed with me.

"When I started on Tanlac I weighed only one hundred and seven pounds and my days were thought to be numbered. I've been so wonderfully built up, I now weigh one hundred and forty-three pounds and my stomach is as sound as a dollar. In fact, I believe I could eat the old army rations again without it hurting me in the least.

"I never miss a chance of saying a good word for Tanlac and I would like to urge the boys of the 'Sixties' who are not feeling right to give it a trial, for I am sure it would put them in line again just as it has me. For a man of my age to have no physical ailment, to be well and strong and enjoy life as I do twenty-five years ago, is certainly something to be thankful for and there is nothing too good I can say for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Lima by Hutter's Drug Stores and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

A girl's face is her fortune —when she has a pretty skin

Cleopatra washed her face this way

She knew that thorough cleanliness was the surest means to beauty and she did this thorough cleansing with palm and olive oils.

Whatever the embellishments of her elaborate toilet, however much she called upon cosmetics to increase her beauty—thorough cleansing was the ceremony never neglected, as the ruins of her sumptuous bath are mute testimony.

Begin by waking your skin up

If your skin is sluggish and inactive (through a constant application of cold creams and lotions, powder and rouge), begin to stimulate the thousands of tiny skin cells and glands which make up the surface of the skin and secrete oil and perspiration. These secretions quickly clog the pores, coarsening and enlarging them. Dirt accumulates and makes blackheads and other blemishes.

Thorough cleansing once a day prevents this condition and keeps the complexion fresh and smooth. Cold cream is beneficial when applied to a clean skin, and rouge and powder are harmless beautifiers. But—start fresh every day on a clean foundation. Keep your skin active and it will be clear, fresh, youthful and attractive.

Of course you must use mild soap

Soap, to be thorough, need not be harsh; this is a mistaken idea. The mildest facial soap made is the most thorough of all cleansers, as you will know after you once try Palmolive.

Its mildness and thoroughness are both due to the same cause—to the scientific blending of palm and olive oils, the natural cleansers discovered in ancient Egypt. The combination produces a lotion-like lather, mild, profuse and creamy, which does its work without the slightest trace of irritation.

If your skin is very oily, Palmolive makes it feel delightfully soft and smooth. Rinse thoroughly and use a little cold cream.

If your skin is very dry rub in some cold cream before you begin washing. This supplies the lack of natural oil and keeps it smooth.

A 10-cent soap

The luxury of Palmolive is a gift of modern science which ancient beauties never enjoyed. Their luxurious oils are blended in a wonderful combination which produces the finest facial soap the world has ever known.

Science, while perfecting quality, has also reduced the price, with the help of millions of users who keep the Palmolive factories working night and day.

The great demand also allows economy in the purchase of the costly ingredients in vast volume. Result, the practical 10-cent price which puts Palmolive within the reach of all.

Palmolive is enough

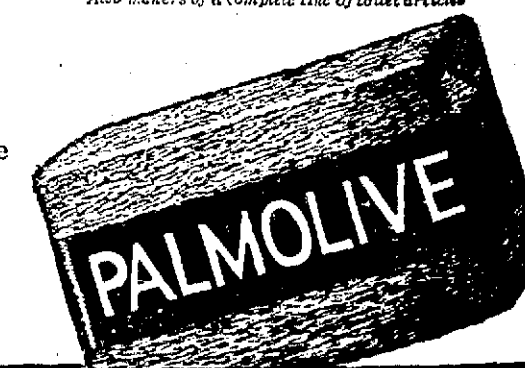

Why use other soaps for bathing when Palmolive costs no more and is the most delightful luxury? You can afford to enjoy it for every toilet purpose.
